Diana Butler Bass is an author, speaker, and independent scholar specializing in American religion and culture.

She holds a Ph.D. in religious studies from Duke University and is the author of nine books, including Grounded: Finding God in the World – A Spiritual Revolution.

Her tenth book Grateful: The Transformative Power of Giving Thanks will be published on April 3.

Diana writes frequently for The Huffington Post and The Washington Post and comments regularly on religion, politics, and culture in other media, including CNN, PBS, and NPR. From 1995 to 2000 she wrote a weekly column on American religion for the New York Times Syndicate.

Diana and her family live in Alexandria, Virginia.

St. Dunstan's is a progressive Episcopal church that strives to be a place of welcome, refuge, prayer, learning, and challenge. Here you will find an intimate, caring community that finds more grace in the search for meaning than absolute certainty.

We invite all people to join us around God's altar, and to receive nourishment through the body and blood of Christ at the Eucharist.

The words of the hymn "Let Us Build a House" express our philosophy well:

"Let us build a house where hands will reach beyond the wood and stone to heal and strengthen, serve and teach, and live the Word they've known.

"Here the outcast and the stranger bear the image of God's face. Let this house proclaim from floor to rafter: All are welcome, all are welcome, all are welcome, all are welcome in this place."

We invite you to join us!
